

Upland neighborhood angered by crime siege

By RICHARD PERAZA
Staff Writer

An atmosphere of fear and anger permeates an Upland neighborhood which has fallen victim to a series of auto burglaries and vandalism.

A total of 15 apartment complexes have more than 100 carports, garages and parking spaces along an alley behind the 800 block of North Campus Avenue and it's become a drive-thru for vandals and thieves who raid it regularly.

Residents say police are polite but have been little help and although some tenants are scared to go to their own carports after dark, others are talking about forming their own armed patrols.

"One of the husbands said 'I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it,'" Darlene Nation said Wednesday. "The comments I've heard about getting guns out are scary."

Vandalism and burglaries in the alley are nothing new, according to Paul Murphy. "There has been a problem here for several years, I've been here for two years."

But residents say the situation in the last three weeks has become intolerable with up to seven cars burglarized or damaged per night and the alley being hit for up to four nights in a row.

Wheels, radios, stereo tape decks, and car batteries have all been stolen. Cars have been hotwired, had buckets of paint dumped over them or been splattered with spray paint, according to Bob Taylor, another resident in the area. He said the battery in his car was stolen four times in three months.

"Police tell me it's a big business because they can get about $3.50 per battery and they can get about 15 batteries a night," he said.

"How long do you tolerate such a situation before there's violence?" Nation said.

"We call (the police) every time and they come out every time to take reports but nothing's done," Murphy said.

"I'd feel better if we just had one person arrested back here but I've never heard of anybody arrested here."

Taylor said. He said police have told residents they'll receive extra patrols but residents say they have rarely seen a patrol car spend more than a few seconds in the alley at night.

"Supposedly, all our cases are assigned to a detective; we got a card (from the police) in the mail about it," Nation said. "I feel like it's placating us, a card in the mail is a weak gesture."

Nation said police have urged them to buy burglar alarms for their cars and to organize unarmed patrols, telling them that if they can catch a vandal and detain him long enough for police to arrive they can make an arrest.

"I wouldn't go out there, I was scared. I don't have a weapon," she said. She said she fears if somebody interrupts a group of vandals, they may attack.

"I can just see myself out there saying, 'all right, freeze and stay right there while I phone the police, or maybe I could invite them inside,'" she said.

She said residents have narrowed down the times of the burglaries to between 1 and 6 a.m. but still nobody has been caught. "What we're showing them is they can get away with it," she said.

Nation said the way some of the cars were spray painted has some of the neighborhood men looking suspiciously toward the Los Olivos neighborhood, only a block or two to the north, "which is like dropping a match in a gasoline tank."

"We've exhausted so many alternatives but it's coming back to being us... I really don't understand that," Nation said.

"These guys are organized and they know what to do. Nobody ever hears anything because they're very quiet but there's no indication of force (on car doors) so they must take their time," she said.

"If we had somebody shot in the alley we'd have some response, but I don't want to live that way," she said.

Murphy noted there hasn't been any trouble in a few days, leaning against the back of a carport wall. "We're about due again now," he said.

Upland Hills Country Club

Environmental health chief new stumbling block for project

By DINAH ROSE
Staff Writer

Local builder Bill Matreyek has met head-on with the county Environmental Health Services department in seeking approval for the proposed $75 million Upland Hills Country Club.

The problem is in the waste water treatment plant that Matreyek, of the Upland firm of Matreyek Homes Inc., has proposed to handle sewage generated by the 554-unit project.

In order to set up an assessment district to pay for the plant, county law requires either the approval of 12 registered voters in the district or a declaration by the county health officer that there is an existing or potential health hazard.

Site of the proposed development is 226 acres on both sides of 16th Street east of Campus Avenue. The area is currently not inhabited, making approval of registered voters an impossibility.

Stumbling block for the project comes from Richard Roberts, director of Environmental Health Services, who said he determined it was not prudent to make the declaration necessary for plant approval.

"I have been requested to make a declaration that at this point I'm not willing to make," he said. "I don't believe there is currently an existing or potential hazard."

Roberts said he was confused as to why the On-Site Waste Water Disposal Assessment Zone Act was used in making the request. In his understanding of the law, the act deals more with septic tank systems shared between several residences, and not a system that connects into a communitywide sewer system as is planned for the Matreyek project.

Attorney Ted Hopson, representing Matreyek, approached the Upland City Council last week, asking for their support in pursuing the waste water treatment system and the development.

"It's a shame to have to go outside the city for approval," he told the council after outlining the set-backs provided by the county, "especially when the county does not have the same interest in the project the city has."

The city council agreed to back the developer, and City Manager Lee Travers and City Engineer Fred Blanchard met with Roberts Monday to discuss possible solutions.

Travers said this morning that the problem is also being referred to the city attorney.

The developer has the option to refer to two other acts to set up an assessment zone for the plant, but Hopson said they would first like to pursue the On-Site Waste Water Disposal Act.

"Unfortunately, this is an innovative thing we've tried," said Hopson. "This act is only 2 years old, but deals specifically with the sewage plants."

He said the other options base assessments on property value, rather than actual use.

The proposed Upland Hills Country Club includes amenities such as a golf course, restaurant and shopping center.

The waste water treatment plant was planned to handle the needs of the community without additional strain on the city's system.

Big platinum producers

South Africa, the Soviet Union and Canada account for some 98 percent of the world's platinum production. The United States imports 92 percent of its platinum needs, but has mined it in Kentucky, Colorado, Montana and Alaska.

Post Office puts the 'bite' on dogs

One of the not-so-pleasant aspects of summer for local letter carriers is the large number of loose dogs and the increased threat of dog bites.

Upland Postmaster Tony Scalise recently announced that all patrons whose dogs have been identified as a nuisance will be receiving letters from the postal department.

He warned that mail carriers have been instructed to take whatever measures necessary to protect themselves from bites. As a result, a loose dog might prevent mail delivery for a house or an entire block until the animal is properly restrained.

Scalise said more than 3,000 postal carriers were injured throughout the country last year by dog bites, pointing out that many of these were received by dogs whose owners swore their pets were friendly.

Cost to the postal service is more than $200,000, another "bite" out of the public tax dollar.

Summer months are particularly bad, he said, because children are on vacation and more dogs are allowed to run loose. This increases the incidence of dog bites.

Carriers have been told to use mail satchels and a protective spray to guard against the dogs. The spray stuns the dog long enough for the carrier to get away, but will not permanently harm the animal.

Scalise said postal service officials hope the necessity to curtail mail delivery or use the spray as a protective measure are kept to a minimum.

He asked all local residents to help by making sure their dog is secured, and thus cut down on both the cost and injuries caused by dog bites.

Energy-from-waste study funded

San Bernardino County was among 110 applicants to receive a U.S. Department of Energy grant for synthetic fuel projects, it was announced Wednesday.

The $678,000 grant to the county will be used by the county Public Works Agency to explore ways to convert the county's estimated 3,000 daily tons of solid waste into energy.

The grants were authorized under a recently enacted $20 billion program to spur development of the nation's fledgling synthetic fuels industry.

The local grant will fund feasibility studies for a daily conversion system that will produce both gaseous and solid fuels, said B.C. Escobar, the county's assistant director of solid waste management.

If successful, the plan could provide solid fuel for industries such as local cement plants and gaseous fuel to provide energy for utility firms and industries such as Kaiser Steel in Fontana, said Escobar.

The majority of the waste product to be converted is sludge residue from local sewer plants, household waste or rubbish and manure.

President Carter, a strong supporter of synthetic fuel, signed the bill into law only last week. The Department of Energy immediately distributed the first $200 million in a program that could reach $88 billion in grants, loan guarantees and purchase commitments during the next 12 years.

Under legislation passed last year, Congress had given the agency authority to accept proposals for the first $200 million to be awarded for feasibility studies and pre-construction grants.

A total of 971 applicants submitted proposals. From that group, 99 projects were chosen to receive portions of the $100 million earmarked for feasibility studies and 11 companies divided up $100 million allotted for cooperative agreements with the government to finance pre-construction costs.

Rabies clinic set in Upland

The city of Upland will sponsor a make-up dog license and rabies vaccination clinic on Thursday for pet owners who missed the June clinic.

Scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m., the session will be at Magnolia Park, 651 W. 15th St. This will be the last clinic of the year.

California state law requires all dogs to be vaccinated for rabies and licensed by the city or county of residence. Thursday's clinic will be for pets belonging to Upland residents only.

Rabies shots will be $2, and licenses $8 for unaltered dogs, and $4 for altered dogs. Written proof of spayed or neutered dogs is required.

Computer smooths Upland car travel

By DINAH ROSE
Staff Writer

From a tiny room tucked in a corner of Upland City Hall, Traffic Engineer Peter Liu can tell precisely when the street light at the corner of Mountain Avenue and Eighth Street will turn red.

He can also tell how many cars are traveling down the street. Or whether more vehicles are northbound or southbound.

All that information and more may be gleaned from the city's four-year-old traffic control system on Mountain.

The $400,000 project includes a sophisticated computer system that controls synchronization of traffic signals in response to traffic load.

The small room that serves as a control center for the system houses the computer itself, a keyboard terminal and a large wall map marked with major city streets.

A string of colored lights on the map indicates when the traffic signal at each intersection on Mountain is red or green.

White lights on the north- and southbound lanes are connected to detectors buried under the surface of the street, which count off the number of cars.

The computer records and responds to the information, adjusting the duration of the signals as necessary. For example, it changes the pattern of response in the mornings when the bulk of the traffic is headed south toward the freeway, and again later in the day when the street is used primarily by shoppers and business people.

"It's easy to understand how synchronization works for signals on a fixed timer," said Liu. "Some are set so the timing changes maybe once during usually slow hours, such as midnight to 3 a.m., and then go through a different pattern during the day.

"But those systems cannot respond directly to actual traffic volume."

Estimated capacity of Mountain Avenue is 28,000 cars per day, and a study conducted last year found the street was handling at least 35,000 vehicles each day.

The system has a total of 360 combinations of lights and durations to handle differing types of traffic. There is even a fail-safe precaution — if the computer errs and orders green lights at the same time on two intersecting streets, an automatic switch turns all lights on the signal to blinking red. The signal will continue blinking until a city engineer personally corrects the situation.

Another unique aspect of the system is the four optimum speed indicators — two on each side of the street. Drivers who drive the suggested speed illuminated on the signs can generally count on hitting green lights as they progress up the street.

A study made two years ago indicated that the project saves almost $600,000 per year worth of time and car wear by cutting down on the stop-and-go nature of traffic. It should also help combat smog in the area by allowing vehicles to continue at a relatively constant speed.

Although the synchronization system is still in an experimental stage, Liu figures it is working as expected about 85 percent of the time, and the other 15 percent the problems may be traced to a variety of sources.

Communication between the traffic signals and the computer in City Hall is carried over telephone lines, and problems originating with these connections have proven to be a constant headache to city engineers.

At the beginning of this year, the lines between signals at the intersections of Seventh and Ninth streets were cross-wired, causing the computer to send instructions to the wrong signal.

As a result, the entire synchronization was thrown off until the phone company could trace the source of the problem.

Difficulties also arise from more exotic causes.

During heavy thunderstorms earlier this spring, three of the four optimum speed indicators were struck by lightning, and vital circuitry fused together.

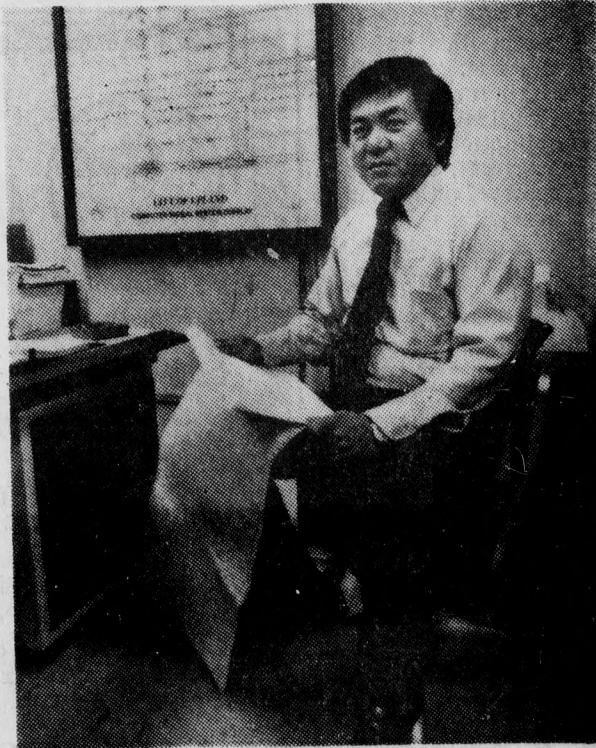

Liu said each one of the units costs roughly $600, but the problem isn't solved merely by finding the money to replace the damaged parts.

The company which built the system has since stopped producing the equipment and replacement parts are virtually impossible to find. Often the only way to repair it is to contract a private firm to reproduce the damaged part — which is generally much more costly than the mass-produced originals would be.

But Liu expressed hopes of convincing the city to buy a more up-to-date system and sell the original to another city.

"In the end, that would be more economical I think," he said, "but we'll see how it all goes."

In the meanwhile, the city staff continues to polish the rough edges of the current process, and to enjoy the pleasures — and headaches — of an automated traffic system.

Upland Traffic Engineer Peter Liu compares computer printout to the blinking lights of the wall map of the city's sophisticated traffic control system. Each light on the board indicates what phase a traffic signal is on, or the number of cars passing over Mountain Avenue. (Staff photo)

Respiratory therapy

Students preparing for careers helping others

It takes only two years of classes and clinical training to open the doors to a personally, professionally, and financially rewarding career in respiratory therapy. And the field is wide open with hundreds of job opportunities both locally and nationwide.

A student enrolling in the respiratory therapy program at Mt. San Antonio College this September will be qualified by June 1982 for the National Board exam and employment at hospitals and other clinical facilities.

"We can't meet the demand for qualified respiratory therapy graduates," said Eddie Fenison, an instructor in the College's RT program. "Most of our students are employed in a local hospital during their first year of training in our program. And when they finally complete their four semesters and two summers of clinical education, they have almost unlimited opportunities for employment in any hospital in the nation, and in other nations as close as Canada and as far away as Saudi Arabia."

"Nine members of this new class (which began training in this six-week summer session) have already been hired by hospitals in our area," Fenison said. And before the end of the session, if previous experience is a guide, all 25 freshmen will be working in a hospital to gain additional knowledge in their chosen field, and earn money to help them continue their education.

MSAC's respiratory therapy program is one of the oldest in the area, and one of the most fully developed in range of classes and clinical experiences available to students.

"We have one of the highest passing rates on the National Board exam in the nation," Fenison says proudly. "Between 85 percent and 95 percent of our Associate in Science degree graduates pass the test the first time they take it. That's a very high rate on the national average."

The age range of students in the RT classes is almost as wide as the facilities used for clinical training. High school students with science backgrounds, people already working in the field, and those changing careers in mid-life are all represented in the RT program at MSAC.

Angie Mosley, Pomona, has her bachelor's degree in biology. During the past two years, while her father fought a hard battle with a lung disease, Mosley was close to the hospital scene, watching people help people.

"I saw some lonely, very ill people during that period. And I saw trained professionals giving them all the help humanly and medically possible. I felt I could do that, too, by giving emotional comfort as well as medical help.

"I'm just getting into the direct patient care part of the program and I really like it. Everyone has been so encouraging. I'm sure I've made the right choice for me."

A personal friend, the supervising respiratory therapist in Inter-Community (Covina) Hospital's emergency room, was a strong contributing factor in Robert D. Ortega's decision to major in the field.

"Through Roger (Aines) I found out more about the field — what training is needed, what the duties are, and what opportunities are open for a career."

"After I graduate from Mt. SAC next June, I'll go on for my bachelor's at the University of Arizona." And after that graduation, Ortega, West Covina, will start his career — ladder moves in the field, through supervision to RT administration.

Personal contact with someone in the RT professional also helped Richard Odell, Ontario, make respiratory therapy his major choice.

"One of my friends is an RT supervisor at San Bernardino County Hospital. He told me about the work and what kind of preparation I need to get into the field. I like the medical field, and that information helped me choose the specific area," Odell said.

West Covina's Vickie Romans is also beginning her sophomore year in the College's RT classes, and also had a personal contact to call on for first-hand knowledge to help her make up her mind.

"My aunt is a respiratory therapy supervisor and she loves her work. She explained what she does, and how it helps the patients, and I liked it. So here I am — on my way to my last two semesters in Mt. SAC's degree program."

In addition to the two-year associate in science degree program, the Respiratory Therapy Department also offers a shorter course for those persons who have worked in the field full time for four years.

Such students may petition for credit in some of the required technical areas based on previous job experience. On completion of the remaining required classes and the clinical training they are eligible for the registry licensure exam. And the student may elect to complete all other college graduation requirements in order to earn an Associate degree.

A respiratory therapy technician certificate program is also available which qualifies a student for the national certificate exam. Two classroom semesters and clinical training from June to the end of November are required. The certification program is designed to train the student to administer medical gases to patients.

The College currently has contractual agreements with Los Angeles County, Queen of the Valley, Santa Teresita, Beverly, La Vina, St. Francis (Lynwood), St. Joseph (Orange County), Inter-Community, Huntington Memorial, City of Hope and Kaiser (Fontana) Hospitals for use of their clinical facilities and the expert supervision of their respiratory therapy staffs.

Tiny infant in the neonatal critical-care unit of an area hospital receives "the best care in the world" as Mt. San Antonio College respiratory therapy student Richard Odell of Ontario watches a therapist treat the newborn child.

Dr. Thomas Cleland, Upland dentist, has been installed as president of the Upland Rotary Club. He has been a Rotary member for 11 years. Besides its fund-raising and charitable activities, the club this year plans a joint program with the city and Omnitrans to provide bus benches on major streets. (Staff photo)

Hospitals' merger is supported

A survey by Supervisor Cal McElwain shows strong support by physicians in his second district to proposed merger of medical facilities by San Bernardino and Riverside counties.

Of the 33 doctors responding to a letter sent by McElwain two months ago, 28 favored the merger, which is a subject of ongoing discussions between the two counties.

Five opposed the merger, and one doctor responding gave no opinion.

The question posed to doctors was: "If, in fact, preliminary feasibility studies indicate that a consolidation would be advantageous, would you be in support of such an action (merger)?"

McElwain revealed the results of his survey to the Board of Supervisors on Monday.

The potential for lower medical costs by reducing duplication of services was cited in comments by doctors supporting a possible merger.

Other remarks pointed to concerns over the initial costs of buying land and building facilities and the need for effective management of a merged operation.

Guide children's television exposure

By MARGE GROSS
Staff Writer

How does one describe television? Some think of it as an electronic miracle. Some consider it a continuous movie or a piece of furniture which provides entertainment. Others just think of it as a means of communication — news, current events, historic happenings.

The Learning and Media Research, Southwest Educational Development Laboratory in Austin, Texas, considers television all of these and more. It can become an annoying chatterbox which interrupts other activities in the home. Families eat while watching the tube, youngsters' choices of programs to view are often uncensored by parents.

But television is actually an excellent invention. It really is neither good or bad, but it has the potential for being both in influencing children.

Depending upon how it is used, television can be heroic or villainous, the laboratory believes.

Most children are regular television viewers by the time they reach 3. Some would rather watch their "friends" on the screen than go outside and play with the neighborhood children. It can't be denied — television is an everyday part of children's lives.

It is known that the children of the television era are more knowledgeable than children of previous generations in many topics, the lab points out. They know more about symbolic and visual communication, social issues and historical events. The kids of today not only know about the working world, but they gain most of their occupational information from TV.

TV expands children's awareness of the world

The television greatly expands children's awareness of the world around them — but, many youngsters fail to gain the full benefit of television.

Why? Because very few parents and teachers think of television as an educational resource. They overlook the possibilities of the medium enriching their own lives and those of their children and students, research has shown.

Many parents simply use the TV set as an electronic baby sitter. Teachers are apt to view TV as a negative force which takes up valuable study time.

Television actually is and should be an educational resource — it is a window looking out upon the world. It shows places far and near — events past, present and future and conveys the ideas of many peoples.

Properly used, television can be one of the most exciting educational resources our children have, the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory strives to point out.

In developing the Critical TV Viewing Skills project, the laboratory personnel seeks to enable elementary school students, through their parents and teachers, to get the most benefit possible from television.

Children can be influenced by the family TV viewing habits such as table manners, social attitudes and other customs of the family. When parents are passive and watch whatever comes on the screen, the kids will do the same. But parents can take an active part in the way television is used in the home.

VNA's annual luncheon

Service awards, gifts presented

Service awards and gifts for years of service were presented during the 28th annual luncheon meeting of the Visiting Nurse Association of Pomona-West End Inc. held recently at the Faculty House in Claremont.

Deborah Meyer and Denise Frisch were given certificates for three years of service by Edith Buus, board vice president.

Gifts were presented to Pearl Hutcherson for 14 years of service, to Jane Hull for 12 years of service and to Diane Vrabic for 10 years of service.

Sandy Wells of the Health Care Finance Administration Medicare Bureau was guest speaker. She has been working out of the Region IX Medicare Bureau for 10 years. Ms. Wells reviewed Medicare requirements for Home Health Care, the limitations and statistics about Home Health since the inception of Medicare and said "the VNA is the backbone of Home Health Services."

Reuben Franks, VNA board president, was master of ceremonies. Ms. Hull, executive director, gave an annual report and introduced the VNA staff.

Services of the VNA include skilled nursing, home health aides, homemakers, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, medical social worker and dietitian. Licensed by the California Department of Public Health, the VNA is certified for Federal Medicare and Medi-Cal and is an accredited agency of the National Home Caring Council.

The luncheon was attended by staff members, board members, representatives from surrounding health agencies and other community organizations.

Supporters sought for Buzzard Peak

Citing the displacement of wildlife, the destruction of native foliage, and the movement of hundreds of thousands of yards of earth as "highly undesirable," Richard White, representing the Friends of Buzzard Peak, asked the Mt. San Antonio College Board of Trustees to join the group in its effort to save the Buzzard Peak Significant Ecological Area north of the campus as a large, undeveloped urban open space.

White said the proposed development of some of the area by the Via Verde Development Company would "present major problems for the College" in additional run-off, slope slippage, and heavier traffic. White presented a series of slides to show the trustees the native areas under discussion.

He urged the Board to oppose the present building plans and ask the developer to change them so that less of the area would be disturbed in the construction.

Engineer Ray Coakley, representing the developer, gave the trustees a report on his firm's findings on run-off drainage and Grand Avenue traffic, but told the Board he was not prepared to comment on the Friends of Buzzard Peak remarks at this meeting. Coakley assured the Board such a report would be prepared and presented at the August meeting, if the trustees wished it.

They can watch WITH their children, making comments to reinforce values and behavior. These comments are the "direct mediation" technique which has been developed by the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory to assist parents in teaching their children critical TV viewing skills.

Parents should answer these questions on TV

Materials for parents and educators include "how to" articles for parents and games and stories in a colorful tabloid format.

Anyone interested may write to the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory, Dr. Charles R. Corder-Bolz, Division of Learning and Media Research, 211 E. Seventh St., Austin, Texas, 78701, for an order brochure.

Parents are asked to face themselves with these questions — How often is the TV turned on in your home? What kinds of programs do you and your children watch? How many hours of television do your children watch daily? What influence do television characters have on your children? Do the programs your children see on television affect the way they think about social roles, careers or ethnic groups? What do your children learn from TV about solving problems or conflicts? Does violence on TV affect your children?

The answers to these questions will determine whether a family should consider changing television viewing habits.

San Antonio College Board of Trustees to join the group in its effort to save the Buzzard Peak Significant Ecological Area north of the campus as a large, undeveloped urban open space.

White said the proposed development of some of the area by the Via Verde Development Company would "present major problems for the College" in additional run-off, slope slippage, and heavier traffic. White presented a series of slides to show the trustees the native areas under discussion.

He urged the Board to oppose the present building plans and ask the developer to change them so that less of the area would be disturbed in the construction.

Engineer Ray Coakley, representing the developer, gave the trustees a report on his firm's findings on run-off drainage and Grand Avenue traffic, but told the Board he was not prepared to comment on the Friends of Buzzard Peak remarks at this meeting. Coakley assured the Board such a report would be prepared and presented at the August meeting, if the trustees wished it.

Management students evaluate Chaffey College

By STEVE STANDERFER
Staff Writer

With the problems that have surrounded Chaffey College in recent months, facts and opinions have been tossed about in a dizzying flurry.

In an attempt to cut through the emotional issues and see for themselves if indeed the college decision making was being done in the best interests of the public, members of a management class did an evaluation of the situation.

Attending board meetings, gathering printed materials and listening to talks by representatives of the different sides of the controversy, two groups in a psychology of supervision class made an analysis and drew their own conclusions.

After several weeks, both management groups came to the same decision — that the issuing of layoff notices to faculty members and reduction in instructional programs was the only viable solution for the financial survival of the college.

In their final report, one group wrote "...the whole situation that has erupted here at Chaffey can be contributed to a number of complicated issues and changes of events. As the administration tries to hold the pieces together...it seems they have become a scapegoat for a lot of hidden...problems in this time of turmoil."

Instructor Chari Wallace decided to have part of her evening psychology of supervision class do a study after she was asked questions on the turmoil which "I could not objectively answer."

"In the beginning we all knew very little about the case study," said student Randy Dean. "I think that most of us in our group were in (agreement) that the administration had really pulled a fast one."

But Dean says that now they have analyzed all information "we support administration's point of view."

"The emotional side is what got us first," admitted

Gary Rebholz.

Dean explained that as members of the group attended a May 8 board meeting in Upland they found themselves applauding and supporting teachers and others who were speaking out against the administration and board of trustees.

"It's more frightening than it is comical," how members of the class got caught up in the emotionalism, said Dean.

Members of the two groups were also confused by the different figures being presented. "...the numbers were flying fast and furious," said Rebholz, who works as a purchasing agent.

The students with the aide of their teacher began to collect all information related to the layoff proposals — from newspaper ads to newsletters.

The class also heard from representatives of the different sides — Phil Hartley, Faculty Senate president, Ed Smith, chapter president of the California Teachers Association, Steve Wallace, college marketing director and legislative analyst and Superintendent-President James Catanzaro.

"When the final numbers came down I could see nothing else that Catanzaro and the others could have done," said Clive Tharpe.

In its final report one group wrote: "The contingency plan and redeployment of school resources and program cutbacks will require some teacher layoffs due to the fact the largest budget item is faculty salaries."

Some in the groups saw the strong dissatisfaction of faculty with the whole affair as typical, in that they felt threatened by the loss of security and a job.

Student Charles Harvey, a branch service manager, saw the faculty reaction differently.

"Faculty do not want any controls on them," Harvey said, "they do not like to be told what to do... (having) been in such a laid-back condition."

Adrienne Green was elected president of the Parent-Faculty Forum at Foothill Knolls School in Upland at a recent meeting. She will begin serving in that capacity immediately for the elementary school.

Junior high school presents athletic awards

Ending the 1979-80 school term in June, Alta Loma Junior High School had an Awards Assembly at which time trophies were presented to the outstanding athletes of the trimester and the Warriors of the Trimester.

Varsity Soccer Coach David Johnson honored Lane Herrick as the Most Valuable Player and Paul Tunney was given the tomahawk trophy.

Peter Oesterlin, who served as Junior Varsity Soccer Coach, presented the Most Valuable Player trophy to Dennis Bein and Tom Dodd was given the Tomahawk trophy.

Jill Binnall was the Most Valuable Player and Michael Wood was the Tomahawk Award winner, both of which were presented by Track Coach Patricia Brant.

The grand finale of the assembly arrived when the Warriors of the Trimester were announced. Representing the seventh grade girls was Andrea Conkle; the seventh grade boy chosen for this honor was Toed Giordano; eighth grade boys' choice was Siegfried Rogowski, and the eighth grade girl was Erica Hartig.

Deanery hears area reports

Quarterly reports were given by women's groups from seven area Roman Catholic churches during the recent meeting of the Ontario Deanery, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women held recently at St. Joseph's Church in Upland.

Mrs. Henry Lucas, president, accepted reports from the president or representative from the following churches: St. Anthony and St. Joseph, Upland; St. Peter and St. Paul, Alta Loma; St. Margaret Mary, Chino; Our Lady of Lourdes, Montclair; St. George, Ontario; and Sacred Heart, Etiwanda.

The luncheon meeting was preceded by mass celebrated by the Rev. John T. Slattery, pastor of St. Joseph's.

Mrs. John Ganger spoke about the mother house of the Sisters of the Precious Blood.

Benefits may be key issue in Chaffey talks

By JIM MARXEN
Staff Writer

Although negotiators for the Chaffey Joint Union High School District and Associated Chaffey Teachers are far apart on salary proposals, health and welfare benefits may become the key issue when negotiations open up next week.

In its contract reopener proposal, the association asked the district to continue making payment for the teachers' entire insurance package. The proposal would require the district to pay for medical, dental, vision and prescription insurance.

Should health insurance costs increase, the district would pay the extra amount.

The district's proposal, however, puts a $1,500 limit on health and welfare coverage. Under the plan, employees would have to pay any insurance costs that exceed that amount.

Associated Chaffey Teachers spokeswoman Maryellen Hill called the district's offer "regressive" because it would, she feels, cut back on benefits teachers already receive.

"In the current agreement there is no mention of any dollar limit," she said. "Blue Cross (medical insurance) would go over their limit by itself. The teachers would end up paying for the other benefits themselves."

Hill said that without talking to teachers she knows the proposal will not be satisfactory to association members.

Teachers submitted their proposal early last month on a series of "reopeners" in a three-year contract approved last year.

In the reopener proposal, teachers have asked for a 25 percent increase in pay. The district countered with no proposed pay increase.

The zero pay offer is considered by teachers to be the usual starting point of the district. Dean Smothers, the district's personnel director, said the offer was made to see how serious teachers are over their 25 percent proposal.

Consequently, the limit on health insurance benefits came as somewhat of a surprise to the association. Hill said the request amounted to a "backward step" for teachers.

In addition, there appears to be some controversy brewing over a proposal from the district that the salaries of five school psychologists be cut next year. Hill said she also considers the request regressive.

As for the pay proposal, Hill said the association will continue to push for the 25 percent increase when negotiations open Thursday.

Teachers received a 6 percent salary increase when the contract was completed in February.

Naming of interchange after Mikesell wins OK

The state Legislature Friday officially designated the intersection of interstate highways 10 and 15 in East Ontario as the Daniel D. Mikesell Interchange.

The action came in Assembly passage of Senate Concurrent Resolution 64, authored by State Sen. Ruben S. Ayala, D-32nd District. The resolution had previously passed the Senate.

Ayala said the measure recognizes the work of former San Bernardino County Supervisor Daniel D. Mikesell in promoting the construction of the interchange and the I-15 (DeVore Freeway) cutoff.

Mikesell, a former mayor of Ontario, began advocating the project in early 1955 and solicited support from public agencies and private groups in Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

The Ayala resolution calls on the California Department of Transportation to erect plaques and other markers at the interchange naming it in Mikesell's honor.

Mikesell currently is involved in developing transportation plans for the area surrounding Ontario International Airport.

Many take advantage of alert system

Nearly 5,000 persons a month are using the one-call system of Underground Service Alert of Southern California, a non-profit, free notification center to help contractors and excavators prevent service interruptions, accidents and possible deaths from digging into below-the-ground utility lines.

The exact call figure for May was 4,816 compared with 3,119 calls for the same month last year.

"This means southland residents have been kept safer from potential accidents which can occur when excavators break underground utility lines," said Charles L. Campbell, president of the association.

"Anyone planning to dig should use the service, whether they are repairing a street or planting a tree."

When a person calls Underground Service Alert, the association notifies its members who have utilities in the area where the "dig" will take place.

The members, who are municipalities, counties, utility companies and pipeline companies, then send a crew out to mark the location of their underground lines.

USA serves Orange, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Inyo, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties.

Its members are City of Anaheim, Electric, ARCO, Cal Nev Pipeline, Chevron, USA, City of Corona, CONOCO, Desert Water Agency, Eastern Municipal water district, Four Corners Pipe Line, General Telephone, Golden Eagle Refining Company, Los Virgenes M.W.D., City of Long Beach, Gas Department, Los Angeles Department of Water & Power, Mesa Consolidated Water District, Metropolitan Water District, Mobile Oil Company, County of Orange, Pacific Gas & Electric, Pacific Telephone Company, San Diego Pipeline, Shell Oil Company, Southern California Gas Company, SCE - Fuel Lines Operations, Southern Pacific Pipeline, Southwest Gas, Southwest Suburban Water Company, Texaco (PCP), Union Oil Company.

The USA toll-free telephone number is 1-800-422-4133.

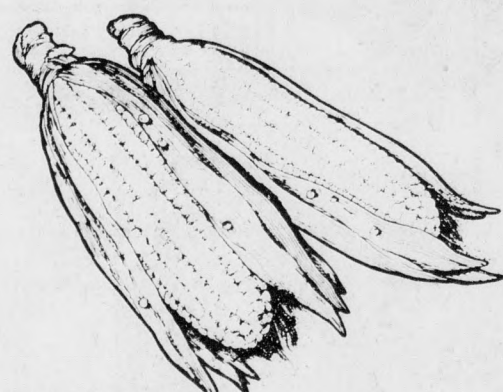

Rose gets fellowship

Florence Rose, Chaffey College sociology professor, has been awarded a fellowship by the National Endowment for the Humanities to participate in the 1980 program of Summer Seminars for College Teachers.

Rose will be involved in the advanced study and research in the seminar entitled "Gender Roles and Race/Class Relations" held at the University of California, Santa Cruz. She is one of 1,400 undergraduate and two-year college teachers selected from nearly 4,000 applicants across the country.

theme for three presentations by Leo Schatzl, retired electrical engineer. The presentations are July 17, 24 and 31 at 7 p.m. in the Garden Room of the Ontario City Library, 215 E. C St. The series is free.

Schatzl drives two electrically powered cars through the streets of Ontario. He has converted a 1968 Carmen Ghia and a 1972 Honda 600 to all-electric battery power. He holds a master's degree in electrical engineering from the Technical University of Linz, Austria, and spent 19 years with Kaiser Steel in Fontana before retiring.

Since retiring, Schatzl has built or converted 14 vehicles to run on electrical power.

Children may become prospectors Thursday

Gold panning will highlight the summer reading club program at the Montclair Branch Library Thursday at 3:30 p.m. The library is at Benito Street and Fremont Avenue.

Children are advised to wear washable play clothes and bring a tin pie plate for panning. Children will be learning the techniques used by prospectors in panning for gold.

Children may register for this event by coming into the library or calling 624-4671.

Camera club changes meeting place

The Pomona Valley Camera Club has changed its meeting location to the YMCA in Pomona. The club is setting up a dark room laboratory for members' use.

To promote interest in amateur photographers, the PVCC will sponsor its first Summer Fun photography contest. Participants enter in either the under 18 or the 18 and over divisions.

All entries must be brought to the regular meeting of the club July 17 at 7:30 p.m. There is a limit of 25 entries per person. Winners will be announced Aug. 21.

"Photography as a fine art and as a commercial form" has been rescheduled for July 17. Paul Darby will explore the relationship between photography and fine art. For more information, call Chuck Dozier at 984-9373 or Gary Post at 985-8797.

Humane Society offers final rabies clinic

The Humane Society of the Chaffey Community, Inc., will hold a rabies vaccination clinic Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Humane Society, 1010 E. Mission Blvd. in Ontario.

If a dog is vaccinated at the clinic, a license must be purchased at the same time. If a dog does not need a vaccination, the license may be purchased at the Humane Society Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Firesides to be held

The newly formed local Spiritual Assembly of the Bahais of San Dimas will sponsor a series of "Firesides" each Friday at 8 p.m. at 1049 Temecula Court, San Dimas.

A "Fireside" is an informal discussion for non-Bahais who would like to learn more about the Bahai Faith. For more information persons may call 599-5433.

DMV license renewal

The city of Claremont's Senior Service Center, 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd., will be the location of a California Department of Motor Vehicles field office on Monday, July 28. During the hours of 8 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4:30 p.m., representatives of the DMV will be giving to senior citizens the examination for renewing driver's licenses and will be issuing the DMV's photo identification card for those people 62 years of age or older who do not drive.

When applying for a license renewal, bring your renewal notice or be prepared to complete an information form at the time of the test. You will also be required to pay the required renewal fee of $3.25, to pass the eye test, to pass the written law test, and to have your picture taken. The renewed license can be valid for up to four years depending on the physical health and driving record of the licensee.

To obtain a DMV photo identification card, you must show proof of age by bringing any document which shows name, age, and birthdate. A Medicare card does not suffice. The fee for the Senior Citizen photo ID card is $3 and the card is valid for 10 years.

There will be no appointments taken. Seniors will be tested strictly on a first come first served basis.

The City of Claremont's Senior Service Center has copies of the DMV California Driver's Handbook so that people can study the rules to prepare for the renewal test. Pick up the booklets at 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd., first floor, or call the center at 624-4531, extension 276 for more information.

FREE PRITIKIN PROGRAM LECTURE

Nicholas Delgado
VP PRITIKIN BETTER
HEALTH PROGRAM WILL SPEAK

Most of us come into the world brimming with good health. Unfortunately, over the years, through the formation of bad habits, we eat and sit our way into poor health, overweight, the aches and pains of "old age," and the terrible and deadly onslaught of the degenerative diseases: heart trouble, angina, high blood pressure, stroke, arthritis, diabetes, hypoglycemia, etc.

The PRITIKIN PROGRAM teaches the way for you to have a SECOND CHANCE at good health! How to actually eat your way back to your ideal weight, to vitality, high energy, and zest for life. During this fascinating 90-minute free introductory seminar, you'll learn how, as a participant, YOU can...

- Take off 10-15 lbs. in just 6 weeks and continue losing until you achieve your ideal weight.
- Lower dangerously high blood levels of cholesterol, triglycerides, uric acid, and blood sugar... and keep them low for the rest of your life.
- Substantially reduce your grocery bill, your doctor and drug bills, and even your cost for life insurance.
- Enjoy the same energy, enthusiasm and vitality that you felt years ago!

The PRITIKIN BETTER HEALTH PROGRAM is a 6-week course that can change your life. It's available now starting with this free introductory lecture.

DON'T MISS THIS FREE LECTURE...

- If you now suffer from or are taking medication for high blood pressure, angina, diabetes, hypoglycemia, or many other degenerative diseases.
- If you want to lose weight quickly, easily, and permanently without drugs, shots, or fad diets.
- If you think you're now on a healthy eating program, it won't cost anything to learn if that's really so.
- If you're over 40 and want to prevent the onset of degenerative disease and regain the high performance levels you had years ago!

Executive Women International

Miss Evelyn Marschalk, president of Pomona Valley Chapter of Executive Women International, announced that the July 24 meeting for meeting for representatives only will be held at the home of Alma Mathis, 1656 N. Laurel Ave., Upland, at 6:30.

The meeting will be a fun night with emphasis on getting acquainted with the newer representatives. Dyer Huston will conduct a white elephant auction. Proceeds will be used for the chapter's philanthropy project later this year. All members are reminded to bring their white elephants.

Reservations should be made with Sergeant-at-Arms Linda Mollet, Foothill Associates, Upland.

Five act variety show

Ther Riverside Concert Band previously slated for a concert Tuesday at the Starlite Patio Theater in the Montclair Civic Center due to their educational budgetary cutbacks will not be heard. In its place, the program director of the summer series has arranged for a five-act variety show on the same date.

The program will consist of Carl Matteson, Hollywood Magic Castle Magician, a flute duo comprised of Jacqueline Karp and Harve Edwards, members of the Montclair Starlite Symphonette, Betty Wagner Gummis Polynesian Dancers, Brian Gulhane, Hollywood vocalist and actor, and the Valley's zany country string ensemble The Phiddleharmonic.

The programs at the Starlite Patio Theater are admission free and begin at 8 p.m.

Free CPR course

The Rowland Heights Branch of Whittiers Hospital's Home Health Care Agency will be offering a Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) Heartsaver Course free of charge to the public on Wednesday, July 23, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Agency office located in the Pomona First Federal Plaza, 18192-C Colima Rd., Rowland Heights.

The course, directed by Bob Shores, technical director of Whittier Hospital's Cardiac Treatment Center/Cardiovascular Lab and in conjunction with the American Heart Association, is aimed at providing CPR training to interested community members. Certification testing will be available to all participants. To register for the CPR Heartsaver Course, call (213) 964-5856.

Monday night concert

The Monday night concert in Memorial Park, 840 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont, on Monday will feature the Mariachi Continental. The ten piece group who play exciting Latin music will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Families are invited to bring a picnic supper and enjoy the outdoor concerts every Monday evening. For information on upcoming groups, call (714) 624-4531 extension 280.

Children's film program

The Montclair County Library will present a children's film program today at 3:30. Films include "The Amazing Cosmic Awareness of Duffy Moon," "Frederick," and "The Fable of He and She." All are welcome to attend. Come and bring a friend. For more information call (714) 624-4671.

African Violet Society to meet

Pomona Valley African Violet Society will meet Monday in Marshall Hall, United Methodist Church, 3205 D St., La Verne.

Plant and supply sales will be conducted at 9:45 a.m. Adelaide Kory of Northridge will teach a culture class on plant care during summer months at 10:30 a.m. Lunch will follow at 11:30 a.m. The public is invited. Those attending are asked to bring sack lunches. Dessert and beverage will be provided.

The 12:30 p.m. program will include judging of show plants by a panel of AVSA certified judges and a question and answer session.

Advocates for special kids

WEASK, West End Advocates for Special Kids, will hold their next open public meeting on July 23, at 7:30 p.m., at Upland Lumber Co., 85 N. Euclid Ave., Upland.

WEASK is a non-profit parent organization, serving all ages and all disabilities. It is the local chapter of TASK, Team of Advocates for Special Kids.

All parents, educators, care providers, professionals and concerned citizens are cordially invited to attend, no charge.

WEASK meets every fourth Wednesday, year-round, at Upland Lumber.

Electric car building

"How to Build Your Own Electric Car" will be the theme of three presentations to be presented by Leo Schatzl in the garden room of the Ontario City Library at 7 p.m., each Thursday on July 17, 24 and 31. The entire series is free. Individuals interested in building a car or has the desire to become acquainted with the automobile of the future are urged to attend.

Schatzl is a retired electrical engineer that has come to be well known locally because of two electrically powered automobiles he constantly drives on the streets of Ontario — a 1968 Volkswagen Carmen Ghia and a 1972 Honda 600 that he converted from the conventional gasoline engine to all electric battery power. He holds a masters degree in electrical engineering from the Technical University of Linz, Austria, and has an extensive background as an electrical engineer in Canada, and 19 years with Kaiser Steel from which he retired.

Since retirement he has built or converted fourteen electrical vehicles of various designs. He is also active with the Electric Automobile Association of America and is an officer of the Electric Vehicle Association in California.

Callers can now buy phone

In most states, consumers may now choose to buy a phone outright from an independent dealer and pay a one-time charge only for the instrument. When it comes to novelty phones from the phone company, in most cases the company sells you the novelty case but retains ownership of the inner workings.

Since July, 1979, all new phones are supposed to carry a Federal Communications Commission registration number, which means they may safely be hooked into the utility system's wires. If a consumer already has modular jacks, the new phone is simply taken home and plugged in. If not, one may choose to buy an adapter that will fit older phone company jacks. Adapters and other parts such as telephone cords are now widely available where phones are sold.

Another option is to have the phone company install the proper jack, paying a one-time installation fee.

Consumers who own their own phones still pay a monthly fee for service and for the phone company - installed jack. But they save the monthly fee for equipment by buying their own phone. Incidentally, consumers are obligated to inform the local phone company that they have installed their own phone. And if the phone should break, they are on their own to have it repaired.

6 incumbents re-elected to GOP 62nd Dist. committee

Six incumbents have been returned to the Republican County Central Committee in the 62nd Assembly District, leaving only one seat to a newcomer.

Top vote getter was Tom Schabarum, San Dimas, who received 17,933 votes. Incumbent Greg O'Brien of West Covina was second with 17,468 votes. And in third place was incumbent Virginia Mann of Claremont with 15,447 votes.

Incumbent Walter R. Burger of Covina was returned to the committee with 13,931 votes, as were incumbent Ron Ballard of Covina who received 13,685 votes, and Bernadine "Rusty" Federsen of West Covina, who received 13,667 votes.

The new committee member is Carl F. Davis Jr., Claremont, who received 11,294 votes.

There were 13 candidates in the race. Others were William B. Allen of Claremont, who received 10,742 votes; M. "Tony" Groot of Covina, 10,333; Peter W. Schramm, Claremont, 10,092; Stephen A. Cambone of Claremont, 9,348; Christopher Flannery of Claremont, 7,749; and Ashley Morrisette of Claremont, 7,689.

The 62nd Assembly District includes San Dimas, La Verne and Claremont.

Canoeing is safer than they say

By NANCY CLEELAND
Copley News Service

Horror stories of what happens to canoeists on the lower Colorado River are easy to come by. Old-timers will volunteer tales of novices lost in the tules for days, or more unfortunate souls caught up in whirlpools, never to be seen again.

It's best to just float on by those stories if you're planning a river trip. Most of them exist only in the teller's imagination. Actually, the stretch of water from Parker Dam to Yuma is placid enough for young scouts and unsteady beginners, most of the time.

"People tend to think canoes are dangerous because they tip over a lot," said Claude Mathis, who organized river expeditions through Sandstone Outfitters until it folded this year. "That's just because they don't find out enough about them before they get in."

The lower Colorado, on the California-Arizona border, is an ideal learning ground, particularly this year.

Water is the highest it has been since 1958, according to Carl Mayrose, who schedules water releases to the river from Hoover Dam. That means no sandbars to run into and smooth currents running 4 to 7 miles an hour.

No rapids, no whitewater, no unexpected drops. "It's strictly a beginner's river," said Mathis. Yet nature will throw an occasional curve, usually in the form of a strong headwind.

As our group of six canoeists found on a recent weekend trip in the Blythe area, a stormy breeze can become one's nemesis. After a full day of progressing at the pace of a slow walk despite strenuous paddling, realizing that the planned two-day trip would be impossible to accomplish, we gave up and were 'rescued' 10 miles short of our goal.

The same wind caused a number of cancellations and a similar rescue of a group farther north.

River veterans, convincingly claim the heavy wind was a fluke, and a normal season for unpredictable breezes usually is over by mid-May. "That was just one of those odd deals," said Bill Booth, who runs Red Rooster Canoe Rentals a few miles north of Blythe, Calif. "That should be it for the year."

Normally, we were assured, the trip is a relaxing, mind-soothing experience.

One need only stroke the water occasionally, lean back, and watch the starkly beautiful landscape pass by at 5 miles an hour. Brown, distant mountains contrast sharply with lush trees hugging the banks and bulrushes creeping out into the water.

However, the scenic beauty does not approach that to be found on other, more secluded rivers. One is reminded occasionally of civilization's proximity by trailer parks and boat launches on the waterway, particularly near Blythe. Sections of the river, again in the Blythe and Yuma areas, are crowded with jet boats and water skiers, some of whom are apt to spray slower boaters for thrills.

Canoes can be rented from two establishments on the river at $12.50 per day, including life jackets and paddles. If needed, both will provide drivers, trailers and a pickup truck to haul the canoes to or from a launch site. Charges for that service average 50 cents to $1 a mile.

Reservations with a deposit are required at both businesses. Real Canoe Rentals has 10 canoes, and McIntyre Park has 40. (Addresses are listed below).

At least one private tour group, Pacific Adventures in Riverside, offers a three-day lower Colorado River canoe trip at $125, but has none scheduled until October.

While instruction in canoeing is desirable, it is far from necessary on the lower Colorado.

"You can teach yourself," said Mathis.

"That's how most of us learned. It helps if you read a few books on it first. There's all kinds of different strokes and different maneuvers, but if you're just on a flat river, there isn't too much to know." A few general tips: Normally, two partners ride in a canoe, working as a team. The heaviest should always sit in the rear, keeping the bow slightly elevated.

Both riders should keep their weight low, particularly when moving, to avoid tipping the canoe over. "You can always tell the greenhorns," said Booth at Real Canoe Rentals. "They'll jump in that boat and walk all over the place. Sometimes they dump it right here, before they even get out."

During gusty winds, it is best to stick to the shore, avoiding choppy water in mid-river.

To keep clothing and camping equipment dry, articles can be stored in plastic tubs or simply wrapped in large plastic garbage bags. A sturdy ice chest is preferable to Styrofoam, as the light tops tend to blow away.

A variety of trips can be made on the Colorado, depending upon the time available and amount of effort one wishes to put into the trip. Booth suggested figuring on 25 miles a day as an average, easy pace for beginners.

With that in mind, Booth trip from Palo Verde County Park or Walter's Camp south to Squaw Lake near the Imperial Dam, just north of Yuma. Another popular two-day trip covers 48 miles from Lost Lake Resort, about 40 miles north of Blythe.

With the water running its highest since 1958, Ruby Buttrey and Mark Petix canoe blithely down the Colorado River. Tales of the horrors that happen to canoeists on such trips are exaggerated.

Hot weather hints

Good ideas for entertaining

Entertaining is becoming less formal these days. Households with a staff of servants are certainly the exception rather than the rule. What was known in Scarlet O'Hara's day as a lawn party has evolved into a manageable way to entertain for many occasions.

Warm weather entertaining outdoors is suitable for home weddings, graduations, cocktail parties or as a prelude to a barbecue or pool party. A well-groomed yard is a naturally beautiful setting which needs little decoration.

It is always wise to have alternate arrangements in case of last minute rain-outs. If your party outlives the setting sun, strategically-placed lanterns, pole lights or candles will keep your guests out of the dark.

Informality need not mean the complete abandonment of protocol. Cocktail parties, for example, are an appropriate way to reciprocate social invitations. If the guest list is small, invitations may be placed by phone. For larger gatherings, informal or fill-in announcements are in order. As host or hostess, you should limit your guest list so you can interact with and enjoy all of your guests. Invitations should be worded so guests are certain of the extent of their obligation. For example, "cocktails at six" implies that some sort of dining, such as a buffet, will follow. "Cocktails from five to seven" indicates "just cocktails."

When planning food and drink, be certain to have enough for all invited guests, as many which have not acknowledged your invitation still may arrive. Beverage selection should respect your guests' preferences for nonalcoholic or alcoholic drinks. For summer entertaining, a cooling fruit juice punch is welcomed refreshment. Less sweet drinks are most thirst-quenching. To prevent dilution of drinks in hot weather, prepare ice cubes with fruit juices or mixers.

Nuttty Cheese Mushrooms
(Makes about 50)

2 pound medium mushrooms
1/4 cup peanut oil
3 cloves garlic, crushed
1 cup chopped mixed nuts
1/4 cup snipped fresh parsley
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup ricotta cheese
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

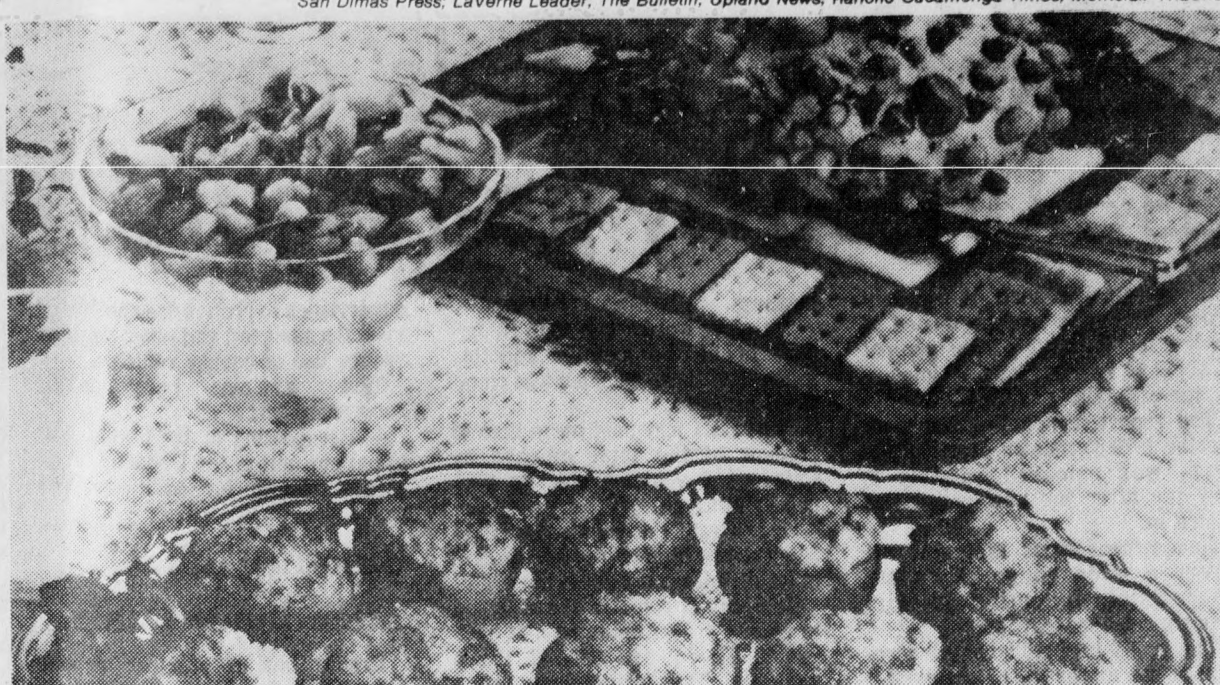

Remove stems from mushrooms and finely chop. Heat peanut oil in a large skillet over medium high heat. Add mushroom stems and garlic; stir-fry 1 minute.

Remove skillet from heat and stir in mixed nuts, parsley, egg, ricotta cheese and pepper. Stuff each mushroom cap with nut mixture. Place caps in shallow baking dishes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes, or until mushrooms are tender. Serve hot.

Sesame Nut Cheese Trio
(Makes 1 large ball)

2 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese (about 8 oz.)
1 package (3-oz.) blue cheese, crumbled
2 packages (3-oz.) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup snipped parsley
1 teaspoon grated onion
1/2 cup sesame nut mix
Assorted crackers

Combine cheeses, parsley and onion; blend well. Shape into ball; wrap and chill 2 hours. Stud cheese ball with sesame nut mix. Served with assorted crackers.

Sesame Nut Cheese Trio and Nutty Cheese Mushrooms are just great for outdoor parties. Entertaining has become less formal these days.

but still hostesses like to have the best foods for guests. These are easy for hot days.

Keep caffeine
at 2 cups a day

Overcoming early-morning drowsiness has become a simple task for most Americans. Toss down two cups of coffee and the fatigue just seems to fade away.

Such is the nifty work of caffeine, one of a family of stimulants found not only in coffee, but in cola drinks, tea, chocolate and cocoa.

Taken in modest amounts, the stimulating chemical may help some people work more efficiently. But excessive ingestion of caffeine can cause a handful of irritating, unhealthy side effects.

According to doctors and nutritionists, moderate amounts of caffeine should be considered a non-nutritious "extra," never a replacement for a nutrition-rich diet based on the four food groups — milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, breads and cereals.

Studies show that more than two cups of coffee a day can cause unpleasant symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, stomach pain and insomnia.

Although many people build up a certain tolerance to the stimulant, experiments indicate caffeine users take longer to fall asleep than nonusers and wake more often.

The effects of caffeine are similar in persons of all ages, but certain groups are particularly sensitive to the drug, including the elderly, children, pregnant women and those suffering from heart disease, hypertension and emotional illness.

Children and adolescents who drink a lot of soft drinks that contain caffeine may complain of an uneven heartbeat and difficulty in sleeping.

A recent study claims that caffeine may contribute to breast disease in women. A researcher from Ohio State University observed that 65 percent in a group of 20 women who cut out caffeine-rich foods from their diets for two to six months enjoyed some relief from fibrocystic breast disease.

Although caffeine can offer a viable cure for momentary fatigue, dietitians recommend that people consume less than 200 milligrams per day of the stimulant.

To stay below that recommended intake, a person should not drink more than two cups of coffee a day, four cups of tea, three 12-ounce cans of cola drink — or eat more than seven chocolate bars.

Review of officials' car use urged by grand jury

In its final report, the county grand jury has recommended a review for the county's assignment of about 60 vehicles for full-time use by top officials.

The report, concluding the work for the 1979-80 session of the grand jury, was released on July 2, one day after the new grand was sworn in.

Recommendations in the report cover a wide range of county operations, including interim reports released earlier.

The grand jury called administration of the motor fleet "excellent." The county has some 2,500 vehicles, and the jury's comments focused on the approximately 1,000 sedans and station wagons in the fleet.

"Misuse of vehicles essentially did not involve abuse of them; rather, the use for personal reasons or as a result for private vehicle operation is a practice resulting in avoidable county costs," the report says.

"Category I vehicles are those primarily assigned to individual county executives for their full-time use. An analysis of selected Category I vehicles' average monthly mileage indicates approximately 34 percent of the vehicles accrue more mileage for 'to and from work' than on county business."

"In other words, less than 50 percent of the average monthly mileage of those vehicles was on official business."

The grand jury said more than 45 percent of the total mileage by Category I vehicles was on non-county business.

Jurors said the county Board of Supervisors should review assignment of full-time vehicle use.

Category II vehicles are assigned to county departments on a 24-hour basis. There are 836 of these vehicles. The grand jury found many of the Category II vehicles are retained "during duty hours on an individual basis even though the individual may not perform field duties."

The report says the county Motor Fleet Committee "should be more rigorous in demanding justification for vehicle requests" in both Categories I and II.

"Moreover, the Motor Fleet Committee should not concede this authority to the county administrative office, as apparently has been done."

The grand jury also called for quarterly review of monthly mileage reports to determine if the mileage is great enough to justify vehicle assignment, a policy by supervisors to reduce the number of vehicles assigned and other steps to reduce use of county vehicles.

The grand jury also recommended:

— Remodeling of the psychiatric in-patient unit of the Department of Mental Health for additional bed space.

Summer school attendance totals

Predictions of summer school attendance figures in the Chaffey Joint Union High School District proved to be accurate when students began arriving at classes this week.

According to first-day attendance figures released by Superintendent Mike Dirksen, 55 seniors needing 10 or fewer units for graduation are attending Mountain High Alternative School; 220 students are attending math competency classes; 185 are attending English competency classes; 30 are attending for the writing sample competency, and 140 are attending special education classes.

Of those attending the competency classes, Dirksen said many could be enrolled in more than one class, thus making total enrollment predictions difficult.

Club members install

At a recent dinner, S Club members of Alta Loma High School held their annual installation of officers.

Officers for 1980-1981 will be Bonnie Kirker, president; Betsy Miramontez, vice president; Kris Centers, secretary; Joan Burger, treasurer; Maria Caravotta, sergeant at arms; and Sheri Trapp, historian.

A special award was presented to Mary Pollock, assistant principal for educational services, for all her many contributions to S Club.

During the course of the year many presentations have been made to community groups, as a result of S Club's fund-raising activities. Foremost is the presentation to the Foothill Fire Department of six sphygmomanometers.

Money was given to the Rancho Cucamonga Raines House toward its restoration.

Subscriptions for magazines have been presented to the ALHS library. Additional library subscriptions and books have been presented to the San Bernardino County Library, Rancho Cucamonga branch.

Special outdoor equipment and indoor toys have been presented to the Lanterman State Hospital in Walnut.

Mrs. Betty Butts has been adviser of S Club for the last ten years. She will be retiring as adviser this year. Her successor has not yet been named.

Few Americans understand the term born again

By Montclair Ministerial Association

A recent survey indicated that 53 percent of the American people claim to be born again. The term, "born again," was first given to us in John 3:3. A Pharisee named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews, came to Jesus. In their conversation, Jesus said, "I say unto you, except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." From this statement, we have gotten the term "born again."

For many years, the term remained obscure. There were a few churches that used it, many people never heard the term. Today, it is a household word. President Carter and the Republican candidate for president, Ronald Reagan, both claim to be born-again Christians. Charles Colson, a former cabinet member of Richard Nixon's administration (also known by many as Nixon's "hatchet man", given that name by the Wall Street Journal), was asked to write his story of Watergate and what happened to the administration.

He wrote his life's story: Before his experience in the White House, his climb to the top, his position as the president's righthand man, Watergate, his involvement, his prison sentence, his conversion to Christ, and his ministry to the prisoners after his release from prison. After his book was ready for publication, the publisher asked him for his title. After much deliberation, he decided to use the title Born Again. He was told immediately that a title like that would stop all chances of the book becoming a success. From this book and others, Dr. Billy Graham's book entitled How To Be Born Again, has come a renewed interest in being born again.

What did Jesus have in mind when He said to Nicodemus that "You must be born again"? Nicodemus was a very religious man. He also kept the law meticulously, so Jesus was not talking about being religious or about keeping the law. Jesus had something far greater in mind when he used this terminology. He was talking about becoming a new person, a new creature, a new being. Tax collectors, prostitutes, fishermen, and people from all walks of life became born-again followers of Jesus, even Nicodemus — a great religious leader of his day.

With nine million problem drinkers; with crimes such as rape, murder, robbery, and every crime imaginable on the increase daily, it is difficult for most of us to concede that 53 percent of the American people are born-again Christians. Church attendance does not reflect that many people attend church. Most evangelical ministers would agree that less than 25 percent of the American people knows the difference between terminology and the experience of being born again.

and businesses in cooler periods. You can help lighten this load, put off building costly new generating plants and help keep electric bills down by not using your major home appliances during afternoon hours, when demand peaks. So please, give your appliances the afternoon off.

Normal use of home appliances, coupled with increased use of air conditioners in hot weather, causes demand for electricity to increase dramatically.

Refugees

'Lucky' boat people helped on island

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service
CHIANG MAI, Pescadores Islands — There are 467 lucky men, women and children living temporarily near this quiet fishing village on one of the Republic of China islands off the west coast of Taiwan.

These 467 are boat people refugees from Vietnam, some ethnic Chinese, some Vietnamese. They are lucky because, through the efforts of the privately financed Free China Relief Association and the national government at Taipei, they are living far better than any of the other refugees who fled the Communist rule of Hanoi. Those operating refugee camps in Malaysia, Hong Kong, Manila or any other Asian nation should see Chiang Mai, a military camp given over temporarily to the humanitarian care of the refugees.

The refugees, of all ages, appear healthy and happy. They are well fed — three meals a day. They live in separate quarters for single men or women and in family groups in comfortable concrete block dormitories.

They play volleyball and they play tennis. They watch television in their dining rooms.

They attend English-language classes (for those earmarked for eventual migration to Canada, the United States or Australia). They shop at a camp store — and their favorite purchase is instant noodles. Next, perhaps, candy bars, toothpaste, milk, toilet paper.

The campgrounds are immaculate and there are many recreational activities. However, those here as refugees are free to visit the nearby village and see what the "outside" is like.

Children attend high schools in the village. Those needing medical care get first attention at the camp dispensary, with most of the ailments being cuts and bruises from vigorous play, plus occasional colds. There are two doctors and two nurses available at the dispensary. Most of the refugees are in good health but if stricken by serious ailments, local (outside) Chinese hospitals are available.

And, the food. This reporter ate lunch — the same fare as given the refugees. The meal included both chicken and fish, rice, soup, bamboo sprouts, carrots. The evening meal was to have been of pork, mushrooms, squid, tomato and bean curd salad and more fish — the famous Pescadores fish. It is no exaggeration to say that the meal at this refugee camp was superior to some purchased in the alley food stalls of Taipei.

This mother and her son barely escaped death shortly before this picture was taken. They are "boat people" refugees from Vietnam, now doing well in a Republic of China camp in the Pescadores Islands.

This does not mean there are no problems here. "Oh, yes," said Kenneth Tsai of the Free China Refugee Association, "there are problems. The biggest one is getting these people to their final destinations. It seems that almost everybody wants to go to your country (the

Tsai's words were echoed by Tran Ba Tien, a 21-year-old Vietnamese. Chatting with him during a tour of his dorm, he said, "I want so much to go to Los Angeles, where I know people from the (Vietnam) War. How much longer will I be here?"

In spite of its lures, few Americans visit Saipan

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Copley News Service
GARAPAN, Saipan — Believe it or not, this onetime Japanese capital of all Micronesia — destroyed in World War II and never rebuilt as a city — has the finest hotel in the midwestern Pacific.

It also has the most beautiful white beaches, lined by cypress and palm trees, that any beach lover might imagine. And, even though a little-known resort 6,000 miles west of San Francisco, it has the nine-hole Whispering Palms golf course, a lush layout that would make golf course designer Jack Nicklaus green with envy.

Only 19,982 Americans vacationed on Saipan in 1979 and that was a 16 percent drop from 1978. Seventy-four percent of visitors here fly in from Tokyo, 1,500 miles to the northwest, and the total 1979 tourism business was $5,972, mostly Japanese honeymooners. Most of the Americans come from Guam, 30 minutes away by Continental, Japan or Micronesia Airlines.

All of this means that it may be difficult to make a persuasive case for luring more Americans here. However, as a brief stopover (perhaps two, three or four days) in a fascinating Micronesia tour of Guam, Yap, Truk, Ponape and Palau, Saipan might be the most enjoyable port. Or, if you enjoy glass-bottom boat trips amid gorgeously colorful coral beds, you will not be disappointed. Neither will you be disappointed in your urge for a deep-sea fishing experience, or scuba diving or surfing.

Of course, Saipan has another lure for some. As one of the most bitter World War II battlefields, the island has an attraction that touches the nostalgia of the 150,000 Army, Marine, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard men who participated in the 1944 campaign here.

And, the natives are friendly. They are Chamorros and their greeting — "hafa adai" — is a sincere hello, good morning, goodbye, how are you or any other phrase indicating hospitality. They have been "occupied" by Spain, Germany, Japan and now are an integral part of the United States, a commonwealth with the same rights and responsibilities as Puerto Rico.

There are 12 hotels here totaling 755 rooms, and make your reservations early because the Japanese honeymooners fill the vacancies rapidly. The Continental is the best of the 12. Although there are only 18,000 full-time residents here, including a few Americans who have "gone native," the facilities on Saipan are adequate. The water is safe to drink from the tap, the food is excellent in both hotels and native restaurants.

ORDINANCE NO. 710

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN DIMAS, CALIFORNIA, AMENDING CHAPTER 5, ARTICLE 5 OF THE SAN DIMAS ZONING ORDINANCE TO PERMIT TEMPORARY USES ON PUBLIC UTILITY RIGHTS-OF-WAY.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN DIMAS DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Chapter 5, Article 5 of the San Dimas Zoning Ordinance No. 37, as amended, is hereby amended by amending Section 505.4 a. to read as follows:

"a. That the temporary use is inconsistent with the various provisions of this Ordinance."

Section 2. Chapter 5, Article 5 of the San Dimas Zoning Ordinance, Ordinance No. 37, as amended, is hereby amended by adding to Section 505.8, paragraph g, said paragraph to read as follows:

"g. Temporary uses of public utility rights-of-way for which the findings contained in Section 505.4 can be made even though the use may be inconsistent with some provisions of this Ordinance. Where inconsistencies do exist, such a use shall require City Council approval and may only be approved where due to the size, shape, topography, and access to the property, the number of uses which may be economically located on the property is limited and where conditions are established as to the time, operation, and nature of the use which will protect adjacent properties."

Section 3. This Ordinance shall take effect thirty (30) days after its final passage, and within fifteen (15) days after its passage, the City Clerk shall cause it to be published in the San Dimas Press, a newspaper of general circulation in the City of San Dimas hereby designated for that purpose.

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED THIS 8TH DAY OF JULY, 1980.

EDMUND M. ALEKS
MAYOR OF THE CITY OF SAN DIMAS

ATTEST:
RUTH V. FOSTER
CITY CLERK

I, RUTH V. FOSTER, City Clerk of the City of San Dimas, do hereby certify that the foregoing Ordinance No. 710 was regularly introduced at the regular meeting of the City Council on June 24, 1980, and was thereafter adopted and passed at the regular meeting on July 8, 1980, by the following vote:

AYES: Councilmen Dipple, Ershet, Morris, Aleks

NOES: None

ABSENT: None

ABSTAIN: None

I DO FURTHER CERTIFY that within fifteen (15) days from the date of its passage I caused a copy of said Ordinance No. 710 to be published in the San Dimas Press.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

CONTRACT NO. 07-477924

Sealed proposals will be received at the Department of Transportation, 120 South Spring Street, Room 1000, Los Angeles, California 90012, until 2 o'clock p.m. on July 31, 1980, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in Room 2 at said address, for construction on State highway in accordance with the specifications therefor, to which special reference is made, as follows:

Los Angeles County, in San Dimas, at 1.1 miles east of Via Verde Undercrossing and, in Pomona, from 0.5-mile west to 0.1-mile west of Ganesha Boulevard Overcrossing (07-LA-10-41.6/43.4), underdrain to be installed and asphalt concrete surfacing to be placed.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms for bidding this project can only be obtained at the Department of Transportation, Plans and Bid Documents, Room 39, Transportation Building, 1120 N Street, P.O. Box 1499, Sacramento, California 95807 (phone 916-445-3325), and may be seen at the above office and at the offices of the District Directors of Transportation at Los Angeles, San Francisco, and the district in which the work is situated.

The successful bidder shall furnish a payment bond and a performance bond.

The Department of Transportation hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth only in the special provisions of the serially numbered books issued for bidding purposes and entitled "Special Provisions, Notice to Contractors, Proposal, and Contract," and in copies of said book that may be examined at the same offices as described hereinbefore where the plans, specifications, and proposal forms may be seen. Addenda to modify Federal minimum wage rates will be issued only to holders of the above referenced books. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the State for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done has been determined and the Department has listed these wage rates in the Department of Transportation publication entitled General Prevailing Wage Rates, dated June, 1980.

Casa Colina proclaims 'Volunteers of the Year'

Helen Baldwin of Ontario and Ralph Matthews of Upland have been proclaimed "Volunteers of the Year" at Casa Colina Hospital of Rehabilitative Medicine in Pomona.

These awards and other community recognitions were presented during the recent 44th annual meeting and dinner held by the local hospital.

Lenore Hersh, director of volunteer services at the hospital said, "Mrs. Baldwin has freely given hours of time and effort to Casa Colina Hospital for many years, and it is a sincere pleasure to recognize her for 2,200 hours of service. Matthews appears daily on the hospital scene and has given 2,700 hours of service over a period of several years."

She added that 176 volunteers have contributed more than 15,200 service hours to the hospital during the past year. "Time is valuable, and if remuneration were given for services rendered, the hospital would have paid approximately $115,000 in wages. Volunteer activities include direct patient service, office assistance, recreation participation and special talent projects," she said.

Other volunteers recognized included: Sallie McBride of Pomona, 11,000 hours; Mildred Licata, Pomona, 5,100 hours; Marian White, La Verne, and Bill Sharp, Claremont, 1,700 hours; Betty Kandt, Upland, 1,600 hours; Eve Ecklund, Upland, 1,400 hours; Luella Schroeder, Pomona, and Ruth Klein and Kathy Wagner of Claremont, 1,000 hours; and Mildred White of Diamond Bar, 800 hours.

Receiving 500-hour pins were: Sal Marmeljo of La Puente, Puente and Valerie McDaniel and Van Schmidgall, both of Upland; Janelle Bartlett of Chino and La Verne residents Carol Springer and Angela Blackburn were honored for 400 hours; William McCann of Diamond Bar, Anne Swann of Pomona and Laura Weddell of Upland, 300 hours; and Odie Johnson of Montclair, Jeff Keen of Claremont and Jonathan Mink of Upland, 200 hours.

Recognition for 100 hours was given to the following: Joe Cordaro, Cucamonga; Jean Flohr and David Neuenchwander, Montclair; George Hammond, Chino; David Jones, La Verne; Tommy Lujan, Verla Waite and Virginia Ruhnnall, Pomona; Catherine Mayer, Los Angeles; Joel Mink and Lois Mink, Upland; and Jacqueline Osborne, Denise Payette, Virginia Payette and Mary Young, Claremont.

Jim Freeman of Ontario, Freeman was honored recently as "Employee of the Year" of Casa Colina during the 44th annual meeting and dinner of the local hospital.

Dale Eazell of Upland, president and chief executive officer of Casa Colina Hospital of Rehabilitative Medicine, appears pleased, left, as Dr. Julie Botvin, medical director of the hospital's spinal cord injury program, presents a silver bowl to

Anti-draft group will air protest

The Claremont City Council scheduled an open forum for July 22 after 20 members of the Students for a Free America appeared before the Claremont City Council this week to protest their removal from the city's Fourth of July parade on Friday.

The students had obtained a permit to participate in the parade to protest the new law to register for the draft. They told the council they had been denied their right to participate in the parade because they were "too political" although both Republican and Democrat candidates for election were in the parade.

The council heard a number of conflicting statements on what actually happened at the parade. The open forum was scheduled so that the issue can be discussed.

City Manager Leonard Wood said Wednesday he is conducting a review of the entire incident to determine exactly what happened during the parade and what policies concerning parade entries exist in the city.

"It would appear that several is-ssues need to be resolved, including the relationship between the city and the parade committee, the rules about parade entries, the concerns for the safety of the general public and policies of parade participation in the past," Wood said. "Since I am new in the city, I need to obtain information from a number of sources."

Wood met Wednesday afternoon with representatives of the Students for a Free America. The organization is comprised of Claremont area students.

The Rebels

The Swinging Rebels Square Dance Club will celebrate its sixth anniversary on July 19 from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Southwest Branch YMCA, 1267 S. Riverside Ave., Rialto. Gordon Adams will call. Dance level will be mainstream. All square dancers are welcome. Call 875-0433 for further information.

The Rompers

The Calico Rompers Square Dance Club will hold its Independence March Dance on July 18 from 8 to 11 p.m. at Serrano Junior High School, Montclair. Skip Stanley will call.

Howard and Georgia Wiseman will cue the rounds and teach the round of the month at 7:30 p.m.

Stanley also has a workshop every Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Ramona Junior High School in Chino.

Idyllwild to be location for camp for the blind

Christian Record Braille, sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist Church, and earmarked to receive a special offering from North Hills Seventh-day Adventist Church in Claremont, will be holding one of their 35 "National Camps for Blind" in Idyllwild. The camp at Pine Springs (a church-owned facility) will be held July 20-27.

National Camps for Blind are free on a non-discriminatory basis to all legally blind persons. Since its beginning in 1967, NCFB has hosted more than 12,500 blind campers in 230 camps. Here they play beeper ball, learn archery, go hiking, boating, swimming, skiing and participate in other activities enjoyed by the sighted, including the traditional campfires, singing, and story telling.

For information and admission to summer camp at Pine Springs or any other service offered by CRFB, call toll free 800-228-4189 — or write to area representative Willis R. Christian, P.O. Box 3183, San Bernardino, 92413.

How to avoid home fire told by fire department

The Fire Prevention Bureau of the Upland Fire Department reports that most home fires could be avoided through active prevention, and has published a checklist for homeowners to use in their own safety program.

The information is geared toward those living in one- and two-family residences, since the majority of fire deaths occur in residential fires according to bureau officials.

Statistics from fires within the city show primary causes of home fires include cooking and heating equipment, appliances, electrical equipment, open flames, fireworks and smoking.

Officials suggest that annual spring cleaning is a good time to take a close look at potential fire hazards around the home, and kick off a personal prevention program.

In general, the homeowner should avoid overloading electrical outlets, be sure to repair or replace worn cords and make sure all appliances have a tested agency label.

More specifically, officials break down the house room-by-room to offer prevention suggestions.

In the kitchen, residents should take care not to have wet feet or hands when handling appliances and not store items over the stove where one might get burned while reaching up. Also, pan fires should be smothered with a lid — not doused with water.

In the living room, smokers must be particularly careful with too-small ashtrays, lighters and matches left within the reach of children and be

Renaissance Festival is scheduled

Pomona's Fourth Annual Renaissance Festival will be held July 26 and July 27 from 10 a.m. to dusk at Ganesha Park, Pomona.

The festival is open to the public with free admission, and those attending are encouraged to dress in Elizabethan costumes.

There will be games, craft booths, foods of the era and entertainment by madrigal singers, jugglers, strolling minstrels, puppeteers and mimes.

Cheryl Freeman

Y Women invest leaders

The Arbor Restaurant in Upland was the setting recently for an installation luncheon of the Upland Y Women at which time Cheryl Freeman was welcomed as the new president.

Assisting her in the coming 1980-81 club year will be Ilene Newman, first vice president; Ester Mejia, second vice president; Beth Pine, secretary; and Suzanne Chappell, treasurer.

The membership also presented donations to the House of Ruth and the Y Teen Fund and said farewell to Katie Morelli, a longtime member, who is retiring to Hawaii.

The Upland Y Women is sponsored by the YWCA of the Greater Pomona Valley. Professional child care is available to those attending meetings.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICES OF PUBLIC HEARINGS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Planning Commission of the City of Upland will hold public hearings on Thursday, 24 July 1980, at 6:00 p.m., in the Council Chambers of the Upland City Hall, 460 N. Euclid Avenue, Upland, California 91786, to consider the following items:

1. CONDITIONAL USE PERMIT NO. CUP-79-13, MODIFICATION NO. 1 and ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT REPORT NO. EAR-410 to consider a request for modification of an existing Conditional Use Permit (CUP-79-13) for an existing Restaurant (McDonald's) to allow the construction of a vehicular "DRIVE THRU" appearance to said use, in the CH (Highway Commercial) Zone, on property legally described as:

More generally described as being a rectangularly-shaped area of about 1.25 acres, having a frontage of about 195 ft. on the South side of Foothill Blvd., and having a maximum depth of about 281 ft., its West property line located about 426 ft. East of the Centerline of Euclid Avenue.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT STATUS: A NEGATIVE DECLARATION is recommended to be issued for this project (Ref. EAR-410).

2. CONDITIONAL USE PERMIT NO. CUP-79-24 and ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT REPORT NO. EAR-409 to allow the establishment of a Planned Residential Development (PRD) comprised of up to 283 Dwelling Units, 13 Mini-Parks and 2 Independent Recreation Centers in the RS-15 (Single-Family Residential, 15,000 sq. ft. min. lot area) dwelling and Ag-40 (Agricultural, City of Upland) Zones, and the R-15 (Single-Family Residential, 5 acres min. lot area, dwelling (County of San Bernardino)) Zone, with a WAIVER from Section 9493.108.010 (building separation) of the Upland Municipal Code, 20 ft. required, 10 ft. proposed, on the following legally described property:

More generally described as being a rectangularly-shaped area of about 72 acres (net), having frontages of about 1,116 ft., 2,415 ft. and 2,125 ft. on the West side of Mountain Avenue, the North side of 22nd Street and the South side of 23rd Street, respectively.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT STATUS: A NEGATIVE DECLARATION is recommended to be issued for this project (Ref. EAR-409).

3. VARIANCE NO. V-79-11 (EXEMPT) to allow a request for WAIVERS from Section 9493.108.012 (SEPARATION OF MAIN AND ACCESSORY BLDGS.) and SECTION 9493.109.042 (PEDESTRIAN / VEHICULAR REAR YARD ACCESS) of the Upland Municipal Code (UMC), to allow a Room Addition to encroach 4 ft. into the required 8 ft. structural separation and to encroach 6 ft. into the required 10 ft. unobstructed pedestrian access to the rear yard, all in the RS-7.5 (Single-Family Residential, 7,500 sq. ft. min. lot area) dwelling Zone, on the following described property:

More generally described as a rectangularly-shaped area of approximately 620 sq. ft., having a frontage of about 50 ft. on the South side of Raymond St., having a maximum depth of about 132 ft., the West property line of said area being located about 436 ft. East of the Centerline of Campus Ave., and being further described as 824 E. Raymond St.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT STATUS: The Planning Director has determined that this project is CATEGORICALLY EXEMPT from environmental proceedings (Art. III, Section 10, Small Structures).

This public hearing will be conducted pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 1 - Zoning Regulations, Article IX of the Upland Municipal Code and Sections 65500, 65800 of the Government Code of the State of California.

All maps, environmental findings and other data pertinent to these proposals may be inspected at the Planning Department prior to the public hearing. All persons interested in any of these proposals are invited to attend said public hearings and express their opinions for or against any of the proposed projects.

G. W. YOUNG

Secretary

UPLAND PLANNING COMMISSION

The issuance of a NEGATIVE DECLARATION means that the City, after the conduct of an initial study and in compliance with provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), has found out that the proposed project would not have a significant adverse effect on the environment.

The determination of a CATEGORICAL EXEMPTION means that the project has been found to be exempt from the requirement of preparing a Negative Declaration or an EIR even though the proposed project is discretionary in nature, as more particularly described in the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

only. The fire department reminds residents that the majority of fire deaths occur in residences — deaths that could have been avoided through prevention.

All members of the family should be familiar with the fastest way outside, and once out, no one should re-enter the building.

Most important, say officials, is to stay calm, and call the fire department once everyone is safe.

3 reasons why

GAS MILEAGE

Economy-minded new car buyers everywhere were able to breathe a sigh of relief after the auto manufacturers unveiled the 1980 model automobiles, designed to save you money by saving you gasoline. The Ontario/Pomona Valley Auto Dealers have gas-saving 1980 models on display throughout the area. We're sure you'll be impressed at how far your favorite new car will travel on a tank of gasoline.
